2019 Terry Fox Run Fundraiser!!

Students ran or walked from the Heritage Center to the school. Thank you to the local Fire fighters Cole, Sean and Ryan for your help and RCMP officer Jason for assisting. Both the fire department and RCMP had set up on the highway where students would cross during the walk. This year the run took place while the Elders were having a meeting. Students and Elders alike gathered on the back steps of the heritage center to pose for a photo.

Chief & Executive Council

Teslin Tlingit Council Naa Shaade Hani and Councillor Oakley sign the Financial Transfer Agreement in August.

Gunalchish!

Message from Naa Shaade Hani

Máa sá iyatee,

Fall is a busy time for most us as we prepare for winter. TTC is no exception. Thank you to all TTC staff and Citizens for supporting us along the way.

On August 27, we signed a new 5-year Financial Transfer Agreement with Canada. Self-government financial transfer agreements are an annual formula grant toward the First Nation costs for:

- Land Claim and self-government implementation
- Operating for governing bodies such as the Council, boards, and committees.

While this is not the first time that TTC has signed such an Agreement, this FTA does contain major elements that will have a direct and positive impact on the lives of our Citizens.

On September 18, TTC hosted the Yukon Forum at the Heritage Centre. The Yukon Forum is a regular meeting between leaders of the Government of Yukon, Yukon First Nations and the Council of Yukon First Nations. The goal of the Yukon Forum is to build strong government-to-government relations and collaborate on shared priorities. Some discussions included, Fish & Wildlife, Family and Children Services Continuing Care Order Review and Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls update. To learn more about the Yukon Forum, people can look on the Government of Yukon website.

On October 16, the new TTC website was launched. It contains information about our government and the programs and services that we offer our Citizens. We hope you will like the new look and feel. Visit the website at <http://www.ttc-teslin.com/>.

Presently, we are preparing for the next General Council on November 19th to 21st at the Heritage Centre. The General Council is an opportunity for all 25 Clan representatives to discuss, debate and deliberate important government business. We encourage all Citizens to attend and hear the matters being discussed such as the Timber Harvest Plan, FTA Renewal Update and Elections Act presentation.

One of our Citizens, Cassie Johnston, was recognised for her commitment and involvement with Teslin Recreation. She received the Outstanding Youth Achievement Award for her generous contributions! Congratulations Cassie and Thank you for your effort!!

We thank the Creator for the summer/fall's bounty during harvest season. It is a time for honouring and teaching our culture and tradition to our future generations, so they too, can pass knowledge onto their families of "Our Way of living".

The fall is also a time for fun. Halloween brings children to your doorstep. Please look out for them to ensure their safety.

In closing, I want to send my condolences and prayers to the community and the families who have recently faced losses and hardship. Teslin has been through so much these past few months, please remember that we are here for each other, to protect and help one another through difficult times.

Gunalchish yigooiyax'wan!

'Thank you, do your BEST!'

Elders Update

The TTC Elders Council met on September 25th & 26th. One of the agenda items was to select an Executive Elder to fill the current vacancy. Barb Hobbis was selected with the majority of the votes. Runner up was Carol Geddes. It was a close race and we wish Barb all the best in filling this position.

Barb will finish the Term until the next Naa Sháade Háni is elected in July 2020. Then after the new Chief is elected the Elders Council will go back and select an Executive Elder to fill a 4 year term along with the rest of Executive Council.

The Executive Elder and Elder's Council need to complete their Terms of Reference (TOR) or operating guidelines for the Elders Council. This important document will establish the selection process for the Executive Elder as well as how meetings will be conducted and identify the requirements for having a meeting or cancelling a meeting. It will also clearly lay out roles and responsibilities for the Executive Elder and Elders coordinator.

TTC Elders Council would also like to thank Carl Smarch for his service and wish him the best in his future endeavors.

Elders Council has selected Pearl Callaghan for Housing Committee Elders Rep and Philip Smith selected for Cariboo Management Committee. All the best, Gunalchish and welcome.

TTC BC Transboundary Update

On September 5, 2019 the First Nations Summit, Federal Government and the Province of BC announced approval of the “Recognition and Reconciliation of Rights Policy for Treaty Negotiations in British Columbia” effective September 4, 2019.

This is good news for the Tlingit Nation, as the policy now address's outstanding issues that have been blocking our path forward. For example, it states that treaties will not be full and final and affirms that there is no requirement for extinguishment or surrender of rights and acknowledges that rights will evolve over time.

In addition the policy establishes the “United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Nations (UNDRIP) as a foundation for the BC treaty negotiations framework. The policy authorizes federal and provincial negotiators to negotiate treaties, agreements and other constructive arrangements that address the right of indigenous nations to free, prior and informed consent and redress, including just, fair and equitable compensation. For further information go to the Rights policy on the Summit web site.

With the Federal election called and slated for October 21, 2019 the federal team has not been able to participate in any negotiations, barring unforeseen circumstances they anticipate that they will be able to make the scheduled November 26-27, 2019 dates.

The TTC & CTFN executive councils met with John Horgan and his chief of staff on October 1st at the KD cultural center. The premier committed to introducing new legislation that would endorse and implement UNDRIP.

Until our treaties are brought into legal force, we propose the establishment of interim treaty arrangements and/or measures, based on collaboration amongst the First Nations, CXanada and the Province, to ensure that our Aboriginal rights and titles are protected. These interim measures will include:

- Withdrawal of the entire areas of our traditional territories from any uses or dispositions, unless otherwise consented to by the affected First Nation.
- Establishment of a joint process to collaboratively manage and administer the lands and resources of our traditional territories, including approval of dispositions, licenses and permits for access and use and development.
- Establishment of a collaborative process for the development of the parties' respective negotiation mandates required to form the basis of acceptable agreements.

To date we have tabled a draft AIP consistent with stage four of the BC Treaty Commission process. Its provisions are consistent with the new policy and UNDRIP. We have also prepared and tabled Term Sheets that are consistent with

UNDRIP which will be the basis of mandates for each party to move us to stage five negotiations, the final stage.

The Premier committed to the Naa Shaade Hanni Richard Sidney to meet and follow up on progress with us before July 20, 2020.

Looking forward to seen every one at the open houses

Salmon Restoration and Research

The Deadman Creek Restoration project continued this summer, but was strongly affected by the low numbers of salmon returning. In order to protect the Morley River spawning population during this year of stressful environmental conditions and low returns, the number of eggs that were gathered from Morley to plant in Deadman was greatly reduced. We are committed to the completion of this project, and will work to find new ways to achieve our goal while protecting the health and strength of our existing stocks.

The second year of the Upper Teslin Chinook Telemetry project was completed successfully this year, tagging just over 60 of our target of 100 salmon near Johnson's Crossing, and relocating those at their spawning grounds throughout the watershed. Again, this project was reduced in its capacity due to the low numbers of returning spawners, but preliminary results indicate that salmon were relocated in all of the major rivers that they have been known to spawn in within the Teslin watershed. Through this work, we have expanded our knowledge of spawning areas as was indicated by previous scientific work, and confirmed the continued presence of spawning populations in many critical areas. We hope to follow up this work in the near future with a comprehensive look at local and traditional knowledge of areas where salmon have been known to spawn as far back as possible to give us a full picture of how salmon and their habitat use have changed over time, and where there may be potential for restoration work.

We will be hosting an open house this winter to showcase the work that we have been doing in more detail, and share more information about our short- and long-term plans for salmon research and restoration. We strongly rely upon Teslin Tlingit values and local knowledge to guide us as we navigate this important work, and greatly appreciate the support and continuing interest from the community.

Teslin Community Fish and Wildlife Workplan

TTC, the Teslin RRC, and YG are excited to be gathering information to inform the new Community Fish and Wildlife Workplan. We would like to remind community members that short surveys are available at the TTC Lands and Teslin YG Environment offices, and can be filled out until the end of October. Thank you to all those who have completed surveys already.

The next stage involves longer interviews with community members which go into more detail about fish, wildlife, habitats, and land use. All of the information we gather through this process will be compiled and presented back to the community later this winter.

Moose Update

TTC is leading a food security strategy for Teslin Tlingit and the wider community. We want to ensure that Citizens can meet their needs for generations to come. Food security is about having reliable access to enough affordable, nutritious, culturally appropriate food. In Teslin, that means not only store-bought food, but also food harvested from the land and water and grown in the community. It also includes Haa Kusteyí and the Tlingit relationship with food. One of the major focuses of this strategy is harvesting, particularly moose harvesting. TTC is working with Citizens and other governments to address moose harvest concerns in a number of ways.

One way is by working with moose harvesters to document the kinds of places that are valuable for moose hunting (not just where moose are, but where hunters go). Afterwards, we can apply this information across the whole Traditional Territory to create a Tlingit moose harvester map. This map will support all kinds of TTC work. Land planning, working with other governments, preparing for climate change, forest planning, and supporting Citizens with programs are just a few ways this knowledge will be helpful. Over the next few months (once moose hunting season has wrapped up!), Lands and Resources staff will be contacting harvesters about participating in this work to support Tlingit food security. The study will include focus groups in Teslin and Whitehorse. Tlingit hunters and knowledge holders are essential to Tlingit food security and safeguarding our moose and we are grateful for your participation!

Trip to Chena Hotsprings in Alaska

Hi I went on a five day working trip to the Chena Hotsprings outside of Fairbanks Alaska with 11 other people. These 11 people were from various levels of the Yukon Government, First Nation Governments and private consultants.

Geothermal energy is a fairly new concept as looking at different alternatives to fossil fuels. I was in for a steep learning curve as they are geologists and I am no way near there. The Yukon Government has done some testing around the Swift River area as there is lots of granite rocks there. Those rocks through the decay composition gives off heat and once the tests are completed more information will be released and their maps will be updated. Teslin was one of the highest areas for geothermal energy. The Energy Mines and Resources, Yukon Government department said they are willing to come to Teslin to do workshops if there is interest.

The Chena hotsprings are located about 100 km outside of Fairbanks, Alaska. The Chena Hotsprings operate on geothermal energy groundwater which heats multiple buildings including greenhouses. The underground water is pumped up through a drill which is very costly and then it is recycled back down. If this process did not take place then the underground water would be gone so the recycling process needs to happen. This test was also done in Chena and they said it took 30 days for the recycling process. They are also looking at adding more buildings and hiring more workers, they currently employ 80 people and are looking at hiring an additional 20 more workers. It is quite an impressive place and huge. This place is famous for the “Ice House” where people can spend the night as well.

I had a memorable trip and met some very neat people who would like to come down to Teslin and do a workshop. I do have my notes, etc. for anyone that might be interested.

We want your input for the Teslin Community-based Fish and Wildlife Work Plan

The Teslin Tlingit Council (TTC), the teslin Renewable Resources Council (TRRC) and the Government of Yukon (YG) Fish and Wildlife Branch are working towards renewing our community-based fish & wildlife work plan.

This plan provides us with the opportunity to review what we know about fish and wildlife in the traditional territory, discuss the main values and concerns, and make sure that our priorities in the next five years reflect those of the community. The plan will allow the TTC, TRRC and YG to collaboratively plan our projects and activities so we are working together to address the most important fish and wildlife concerns.

In order to begin gathering community input into the plan, we have included some general questions that we would like you to answer. The plan partners will further engage with Teslin residents throughout the next year, but these questions are an important starting point. We would like to learn more about your opinions to help guide us in making the next community-based work plan.

Your answers will remain confidential. They will be included in a summary of questionnaire results but the summary will not identify who said what.
